

Sacred Heart Hospital

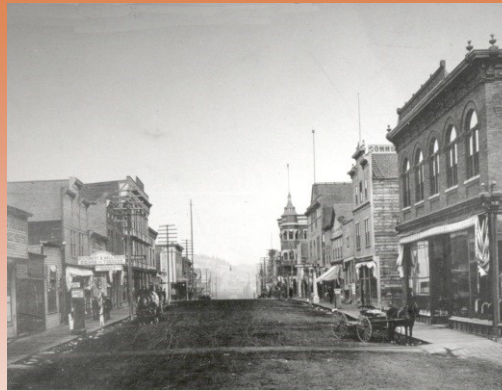

384 Marguerite Ave., Greenwood, B.C.

John Jarrett was brought to the hospital with senile tuberculosis in the spring of 1906. His daughters, Mrs. Hugh Keefer and Mrs. Robert Leatherdale, both from Vancouver, were notified and they visited their father at the hospital.

John Jarrett died on April 20, 1906, at the age of 73. He is buried in plot number 359 at the Greenwood Cemetery.

The Lawrence Massacre / Quantrill's Raid

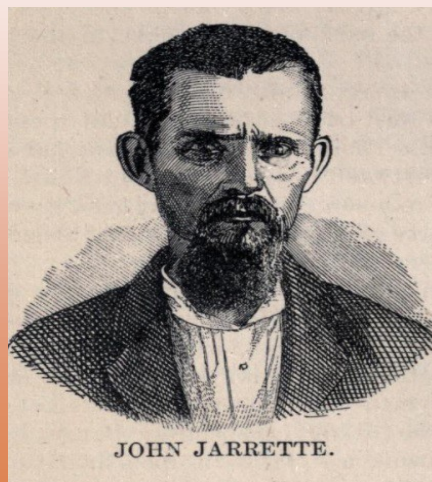

During the Civil War, on Aug. 21, 1863, 350 guerrillas, including John Jarrett & Cole Younger, attacked Lawrence, Kansas, a centre for free state militia and anti-slavery vigilante groups known as Jayhawkers. The Jayhawkers were known for attacking, stealing, destroying farms & plantations and killing many people living in the western Missouri counties of Vernon, Bates, Cass and Jackson. Local militia were unable to assemble & mount a defence and most victims of the raid were unarmed when gunned down. During this fierce attack John's horse was killed and he narrowly escaped by jumping on the back of Cole Younger's horse.

In 1865 Cole & John travelled to Guaymas, Mexico where they separated. Cole travelled north to Victoria for the Confederate States on a secret mission for the purchase of two schooners. John travelled to San Francisco.
